

Transforming lives

LGS Bursary Programme

Nahbi joined LGS on a transformational bursary in Year 7. It soon became apparent that he would make the most of his many talents, enabled to do so by this special opportunity.

During his time at LGS, he not only excelled in his learning, but he also loved his sport and derived a natural self-confidence from involvement in musical ensembles, choirs and drama productions. He played first team rugby, became a national level triple jumper and completed his Gold Duke of Edinburgh Award. In the Sixth Form, he was keen to train as a student mentor and was an obvious choice as Head Boy. He juggled these various commitments with his role as a youth leader in his local church whilst also taking four A-levels (Biology, Chemistry, Maths and Religious Studies) and a Level 3 Diploma in Sporting Excellence. Above all, we recall him as a very positive, humble and dedicated role model for younger pupils who always had a smile for everyone!

Nahbi is now in his third year at Cardiff University studying Medicine. He has said how his appreciation of the education he received at LGS has made him want to make a difference for others, and he is involved in the university's widening access to medicine programme.

"Leicester Grammar planted many seeds and nurtured my growth in many ways. The school opened a multitude of doors, not only for my academic endeavours, but in high level sport, and the performing arts. These experiences have shaped me to become a well-rounded individual, equipping me to meet the variety of demands in my medical career. We need to keep planting these seeds in as many young people's lives as possible. This will help facilitate the growth of the next generation to be enthusiastic, driven and successful."
